

"Negro Stampede," Boston (MA) Liberator, May 6, 1853
<https://stampedes.dickinson.edu/document/boston-ma-liberator-negro-stampede-may-6-1853>

 The Lagrange, Ga., Reporter advises slave-owners to be on the look-out for negro-stealers. The editor says numbers of slaves have been stolen from that vicinity, some of which have not as yet been recovered, and probably may never be.

 Three fugitive slaves passed through this place last week, and were supplied with means to prosecute their journey to the Land of Freedom—the Fugitive Slave Law to the contrary notwithstanding. Now God makes the wrath of man to praise him!—Green-Mountain Freeman.

Negro Stampede.—Twenty-five negroes ran away from their masters in Boone county, Ky., on the night of the 2d inst. Among those who have lost their servants are two ministers.