

---

THE MISSOURI STAMPEDE.—There are upwards of four hundred slaves leaving Missouri every week, nearly all of whom go south. This movement in the slave market is occasioned partly by the high prices obtained, and partly by causes having no reference to prices. The money market in Missouri, has already received sensible relief from this source.

---