

---

The telegraphic dispatch from Norfolk, announcing a slave insurrection or stampede on the Eastern shore of Virginia, and a consequent excitement there, was based on a very slender foundation.— An anonymous letter was its only foundation, and the alarm, the Norfolk Herald says, excited only a general sentiment of derision.